

Saturday, Sept 15, 2018, 9 am-4 pm

Unitarian Universalist Church, 1187 Franklin St, San Francisco, CA

Sponsored by: Environmental Justice Working Group, Unitarian Universalist Church, Elders Climate Action (ECA) and Elders Activists for Social Justice (EASJ), Action groups of the Conscious Elders Network

As Elders, we will explore, decide, and act:

- Seeing with new eyes- what really is happening to our Earth home.
- Claiming our roles as Elders and our interconnection to all life.
- Examining and choosing the ways we are called to act for our Earth home.

Come join a deep examination of our elderhood and our needed, pivotal role in restoring the life-sustaining legacy for our grandchildren, future generations, and all life.

Be an Elder Standing for Earth and Humanity!

Morning Session: Explore together how to reclaim our Elders' moral voice -- the voice that speaks for the welfare of all-- protecting our grandchildren, restoring Mother Earth, and regenerating a flourishing world.

Lunch will be provided, with music presented by David Glover, entertainer and author of The New Old Age. The NOAM Singers & musicians will introduce "Boomer Music", a new style of music written by David.

Afternoon Session: Hear from Elders who have developed successful community organizing methods that we can adopt. We will divide into small groups by interest and region to (a) address climate action, social justice, intergenerational collaboration, or other themes that may arise; and (b) create action plans for going forth. Then together we will share our plans and commitments. We will end by celebrating our elderhood and the restorative roles we have chosen.

Registration includes sliding scale fees to cover our costs.
